THE HOLIDAYS ARE HERE (HELP!!)

For weeks the children in school have been counting the days until they “break up” for the summer holiday. Many parents have also been counting the days to that same event but I suspect with slightly less enthusiasm! The time has now arrived. The holidays are here. Already numerous parents will have heard that long remembered and feared cry of “Are we nearly there yet?” - often within minutes of setting off on the journey! Although the children may never have been to their expected destination; may not realise there could be problems along the way; have no concept of when they will arrive, yet they trust the person taking them and believe they will arrive safely. Sometimes our faith is like that. Our journey time is unknown, there may be obstacles en route yet we can know and trust Jesus as He takes us to our eternal destination.

St. Luke's verse for 2018

“Bear one another's burdens, and in this way you will fulfil the law of Christ.” Galatians 6: 2
